A Complimentary Tribute to Louis Gaylord Clark, Esq., For Twenty Years Editor of the Knickerbocker Magazine.

CONSIDERING that Louis Gaylord thank has been, for the unexampled period of twenty years, editor of a leading Literary Magazine in this country; that his labors meanwhile have been constant, arduous and ill-requitted; that they have been eminently creditable to his abilities and character, and of great service to his country in developing its intellectual resources, several of his friends met together last December to devise some suitable plan for tendering to him a substantial complimentary Benefit, in all respects appropriate for the Literary Class to offer, and for him to receive. The result was a project for publishing such a work as is above described; and upon submitting the plan to Washington Irving, William C. Bryant, Fitz-Henry Halleck, Henry W. Longfellow and other leading Literary men of the United States, it received their cordial approval; so that the committee having the matter in hand are able to announce for the casuing season a Literary Sovenie, beyond all par-CONSIDERING that Louis Gaylord Clark MERY, Esq., Mr. ELIJAH FAST, of Jackson township, to Miss Etraagery Disses, of Troy township. ing season a Literary Sovenie, beyond all par-ailed in the emisence of its writers and in me-chanical execution equal at least to any sumi-lar publication ever issued from the American press. MAKE YOUR HAIR CURL. A CERTAIN LORD who went princely dressed, For Curling and Waiving the Hair,

"is the sovereignest thing on earth." The proprietor, on leaving France, procured of the celebrated Chemist and Physiologist, Mone. JAQUES, this valuable receipe at an immense expense.

All persons desirous of having their Hair curled and waive in beautiful ringlets till the latest period of life can have the same for one dollar, post paid. This is a discovery which most persons have reason to doebt. Human ingenuity has sought for years to perfect a HAIR LAQUID that would curl and waive it.—and one that should combine the requisites to give the hair a beautiful natural tint, and at the same time not injure it. All former attempts have failed. The compounds would curl the hair, but they would seerch, burn and turn it faxy. Now. however, the thing has been accomplished; and the spiendid Hair Curling highly which Profs. M. Louis Garvey and Byron H. Robb offer to the public may be relied upon as a preparation compounded on recently discovered chemical principles, which have received the sanction of the most eminent professors of that science. It gives the hair a soft glossy appearance and causes it to curl and waive in such beautiful ringiets that the most credulous person cannot but admire them, it does not destroy the vitality of the hair, but acts as an emilient; does not extray the vitality of the hair, but acts as an emilient; does not festroy the vitality of the hair, but acts as an emilient; does not professors, it has been before the public hut a few weeks, yet its merits have already established it. Such everwhelming populatity was never known at any age, of the world before. In the western and southern States, it has become the only reliable Hair Curling Liquid in use. The receipe will be sent to any part of the United States by sending one dollar.

Miscellancous. WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

Every woman should know that Ir she is in poor, elekty debilitated condition of health, making existence a burden to herself and a sceree of painful anxiety to her relatives and friends, and perhaps, (horrible reflection i) entailing and inflicting her own maladies and sufferings open her children, that it is her duty to understand thy and from what cause her sufferings arise, that truesty and relief may, while yet there is time, be any and of, the causes be avoided in future, and her health restored, that she may be fitted for this duties and capable of the mjoyments of life.

Let every woman look at the smarieted form, the death-fike complexion, the deep-buried, instructes spe, the sunk-en obeek, the groomy and depressed spirits, the shattered nerves, the prostrate and helpless condition of many a wife, mother, daughter, or sister, if not herself included, within her own circle, whose days are days of agony, and ask herself, "Must this continue? Must this be? Is there no remedy? No relief? No hope?"

The remedy is by knowing the curse and avoiding hood to womanhood, as also as wife and as moth of ly described, with the causes, the symptoms, and per mode of treatment, in a plain, simple, but in the chaste language, easily understood. And thus every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character, and causes of her complaint; and be spared much anxiety and suffering. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost importance to her future health, in respect to which her sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion auxiety or narm.
